The collected light of our years at Hood. Four planets revolve constantly around the sun of learning, preparing to swing one by one into a greater life.
Within these pages are vivid fragments of the universe which is Hood, its hopes, its traditions,
+ its joys, its achievements. +

A P P R E C I A T I N G

MISS LEAH B. ALLEN

Who, in teaching us the greatness of the universe, has instilled in us a finer appreciation of our small world, Hood.
In recognition of her loyalty and service to Hood and all its students, we dedicate to her the 1936 TOUCHSTONE.

ADMINISTRATION

HENRY I. STAHR, President

In you we find unfailing inspiration toward greater achievements. Perfection is remote, but the light which you spread so freely sets our little universe ablaze with aspiration.

JOSEPH H. APPLE, President Emeritus

The ideal of Hood lives in you. From your dreams an entire community has arisen, dedicated to the highest standards of womanhood. Your star is our aim; we wish only to remain true to it.

RUTH V. POPE
Dean

ANITA MARIE ALLIO

ANNAPOLIS, MD.

"Neets" may surely be called one of the most generous girls here on campus. Her kind, open-hearted nature has brought cheer and comfort to many of us.

THELMA FERN AULENBACH

WEST LAWN, PA.

One of "Teddy's" outstanding characteristics is her good-natured temperament. She endeavors willingly to do any tasks, trivial or large, for her friends.

ELIZABETH IRENE BALTZER

SHANKVILLE, PA.

Music is one of Irene's chief interests, and as is characteristic of that art, she is sweet, gentle, and a solace to her friends. We prophecy her success, for she has poise and sagacity together with really high aspirations.

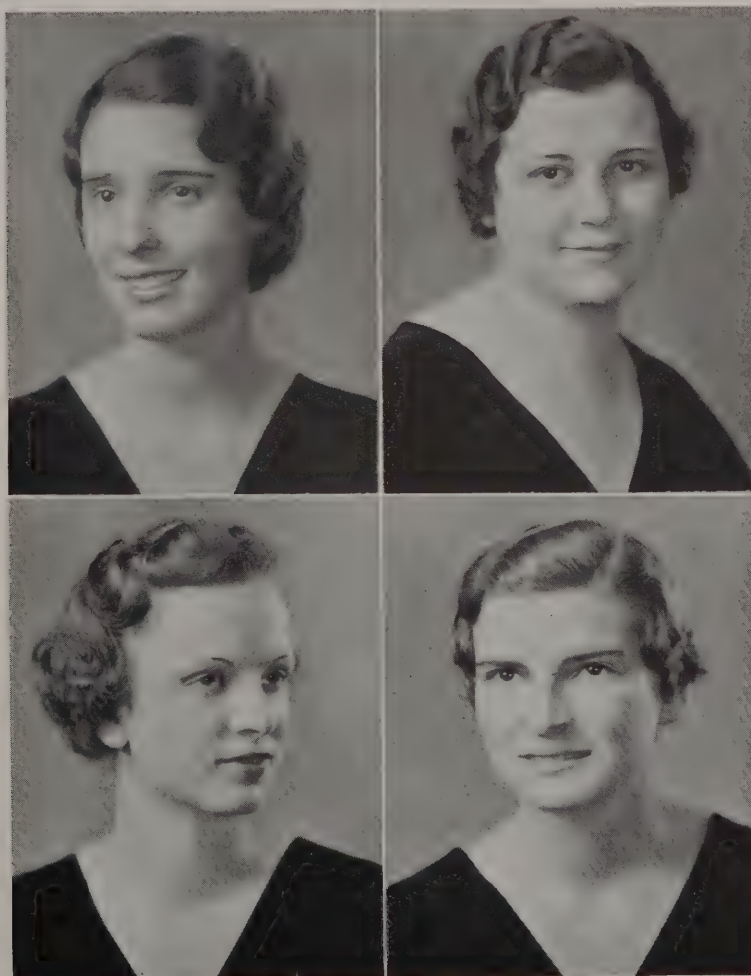

CHARLOTTE LYNWOOD BEAUCHAMP

HARRINGTON, DEL.

There is a twinkle in "Beechie's" brown eyes that belies her calm exterior, and denotes instead the comradery and spirited gayety that endear her to all.

JUNIOR

JUNIOR CLASS

KATHRYN ELIZABETH BLACK

ANNVILLE, PA.

"Kay's" gaiety and frivolity are balanced by her good sense for she is a firm believer in the maxim, "Work hard when you work, and play hard when you play."

RUTH MAY BLAKE

KINGSVILLE, MD.

Botanically minded Ruth is very serious about her work. On her travels it is probable that she views all unfamiliar plants with keen interest.

SYLVIA BEATRICE BOMBERGER

LITITZ, PA.

Newcomers may always find solace in "Bee's" winsome smile displaying her dimples. Her efficiency is shown in the success of everything she undertakes.

MARIAN BOOTH

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Booth" is one of those rare persons who has the power of upholding her convictions. In addition, she is able to express her talents aptly in the dance and in music.

LOIS BOWER

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Athletics and neatness are among Lois' strong points. Her neatness in everyday life is further exemplified by her good, steady playing and sportsmanship on the hockey field.

GLENDA M. BOWERS

WASHINGTON, N. J.

Glenda is quiet and reserved in her way, but to know her means true and lasting friendship. Her light, happy spirit can probably be attributed to her musical ability.

DORIS NEUMAN BRADBURY

PLAINS, PA.

If a vote were taken to name the girl who worries the least and yet somehow gets things done, "Brad" would be sure to get it unanimously.

EVELYN RUTH BRAND

BELLEROSE, N. Y.

Here is a busy little person, seeming at first glance very serious, but surprising you with a keen sense of humor and abundant good spirits.

JUNIOR CLASS

HELEN ADELE BRENNEMAN
MILLERSVILLE, PA.

"Brennie," of genial personality, appears wherever occasion demands to fill someone with cheer. Quick in action, her athletic ability is of great value.

MARY VIRGINIA BRINHAM WINBER, PA.

Giggles and efficiency do not seem to fit very well together, but in Mary's case they do. Both are the results of her ever-present energy.

ELIZABETH BLANCHE BROADWATER
OAKLAND, MD.

Betty's kindness and helpfulness are of the type that, besides being reliable and sincere, also open their doors to everyone and everything.

ELEANOR JONES CAMPBELL
LONACONING, MD.

Although apparently baffled at times, in reality "Issy" possesses much literary ability and is also well known for her dry wit.

CHARLOTTE JOSEPHINE CARVER

HANOVER, PA.

"A good sport"—and all that the expression implies—is "Siv." Her natural ability of interpretation shows that she understands human nature.

ELIZABETH LAVENIA CHANDLER

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Although temperamental and emotional, Chandler is steady on the hockey field. Being very dependable, she has served many times as a committee chairman.

HELEN OLIVIA COBLENTZ

MIDDLETOWN, MD.

This petite girl has the distinction of being one of the most feminine girls in our class. Moreover, she ranks very high scholastically and in the esteem of her many friends.

ELEANOR LOUISE CONNELLY

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Congenial little "Connie" makes friends wherever she goes. We shall never forget our "Math Major," with a decisive and keen mind.

JUNIOR

JUNIOR CLASS

RUTH DARBY
MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

Because of her gentility, thoughtfulness, and willingness, we are glad that Ruth transferred to Hood this year as a member of our class.

KATHLEEN B. DARNER
JEFFERSON, MD.

Kathleen is justified in sharing her opinions and ideas with other people, for, in addition to being very talkative, she is a clear thinker with an open mind.

ANNE ALDRA DE GREGORY REPUBLIC, PA.

Anne's good taste in dress and her general style characterize her as no one but Anne. Her individuality is not easily excelled.

MARGARET KEATING DERINGER
SPANGLER, PA.

Quiet and unassuming is Peggy, who goes about her work disturbing no one. In future years we expect to see her zoological ability carry her far into the scientific world.

ANNA ELIZABETH DOUGHERTY

POTTSTOWN, PA.

All of Betty's distinctive characteristics make it seem perfectly correct that she should be taking the Home Economics course here at college—and afterwards.

ELEANOR MARIETTA DRIES

BECHTELSVILLE, PA.

"Dries" lends much of her musical talent to the college on various occasions, as she is very adept at blowing the trumpet as well as singing."

ANNA MARY EYLER

BEDFORD, PA.

Anna Mary is truly the artist of our class. Although flashy in painting, she is even in disposition and inclined always to look on the brighter side of life.

HARRIET MILLER FISHER

KEYSER, W. VA.

"Hat" always likes a certain amount of levity along with her work. She is thoroughly dependable which more than justifies her prominence in academic and extra-curricular activities.

JUNIOR

MARY ISABEL FLEMING
BELLEFONTE, PA.

"Ghilly's" dependability has been proven many times, particularly in the business side of activities on campus. She is also known for her wise judgment in all decisions.

MARY JANE GOTSHALL
LANSDOWNE, PA.

Mary Jane believes, and rightly, that having a sweet disposition and an unselfish desire to be of benefit to others is the best way to succeed in this world.

ESTHER FELTON GRAY
CAMDEN, N. J.

Esther has the quality of always being there when you need her most. With her quiet, understanding smile and her willingness to help, she is indeed a friend to all.

MARY BRUNNER GRAYBILL
EAST PETERSBURG, PA.

"Piglet's" vivacity is typical of her sparkling eyes and black hair. With great perseverance she sticks to a task until it reaches completion.

ELLA CATHERINE GRIESEMER

READING, PA.

"Honey's" nickname characterizes her better than many words could. Her ability to write verses will, we're sure, help her to do something worth while.

JEANNETTE SIMMONS GROUT

MERCERSBURG, PA.

Jeanette is the proud possessor of that mysterious something which always keeps her in good spirits. Perhaps it may be because her friends come first in her thoughts—and not herself.

JANICE ELIZABETH HALL

TREICHLERS, PA.

Janice always seems to be able to do the things that all of us would like to do. Furthermore, she, somehow, finds time to help her friends in any way that she can.

MARGARET ELIZABETH HAMMER

JOHNSTOWN, PA.

It is a pleasure to be in "Ted's" presence not only because of her steadiness but also because of her appreciation of the other person's wit.

RUTH ELIZABETH HANKINSON
EAST ORANGE, N. J.

We always think of "Hank" as delving into a large pile of books to further her knowledge and appreciation of literature and literary folk. She is truly a student.

RUTH HARRY NORRISTOWN, PA.

Of high moral principle is "Bud." Her ability to get at the very bottom of things enables her to figure out many of the puzzling problems of life.

PEARL ELIZABETH HEAGY
HANOVER, PA.

"Bright as a new penny." By that little slogan of five words we can sum up both the fun-loving and the more serious sides of Pearl's nature.

LAVENIA REBECCA HARGETT
FREDERICK, MD.

Lavenia is earnest in all her work, particularly in the Home Economics Department. She is also very friendly and a comfort to her friends.

ELIZABETH STOCKETT HILL

ANNAPOLIS, MD.

Betty is the personification of high intellectuality and culture. Appreciative of the finer arts, she is a writer as well as an able critic of literature.

ANNA ISABELLE HOFFMAN

MERCERBURG, PA.

Isabelle will always be, as she is now, sought after as a source of information on most any topic and for that quiet understanding which means so much.

SUSAN JEAN HOFFMEIER

HAGERSTOWN, MD.

A host of friends, an odd variety of nicknames, and several important positions all help to denote Jean's reliable, friendly nature.

JANET CATHERINE HOPE

DREXEL HILL, PA.

Janet's originality and cleverness of expression give her much facility in writing. It is a pleasure to work with her because of her open mind and cooperative attitude.

DOROTHY ETHEL HOUCK

DU BOIS, PA.

"Dottie" is the very embodiment of unselfishness and kindness, coupled with a gay, fun-loving spirit that endears her to all of her many friends.

LAURA ELLEN KURTZ

MIFFLINBURG, PA.

Her soft speech and unhurried step reveal "Patty's" easy-going disposition which explains the reason why one seldom sees anything but a smile on her face.

HELEN VIRGINIA LINTHICUM

FREDERICK, MD.

"Linthicum's" good-heartedness is many times exemplified in her willingness to help people in distress. Indeed, her generosity is admirable.

MARGARET MARIANA MAIN

BRADDOCK HEIGHTS, MD.

Mariana has been taking full advantage of both sides of college life—the academic and social—and she has marks, friends, and pleasant memories to show for it.

MARY ELIZABETH MARKEY

FREDERICK, MD.

Everything about Betty—her eyes, her voice, even the lilt of her name, suggests her gay jollity and happy-go-lucky disposition.

RACHEL ANN MCKINLEY

BREATHEDVILLE, MD.

There is just no one else like "Fritzi." She is a good leader who is always thinking of new ideas, and her spirit on campus makes her valuable to the class and college.

KATHLEEN HENRIETTA MERCER

FREDERICK, MD.

In Kathleen's case first impressions are deceiving. Her calm, reserved manner hides a friendly and witty personality which needs only a little encouragement to be brought out.

MIRIAM MAY MITCHELL

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Mim" is one of those all-around girls who is active in athletics, dramatic productions, and a good student. Her good sense of humor is appreciated by all.

CHARLOTTE HELEN MOSER SHAMOKIN, PA.

When it comes to having those three indispensable qualities—pep, vim, and vigor—our vivacious, likable “Chickie” heads the list.

FLORENCE KATHERINE MUSSELMAN FAIRFIELD, PA.

Everyone will agree that even the slightest contact with “Flo’s” pleasant amiability and cheery countenance adds a new interest to the day.

MARY BAKER MUSSINA
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

We think of “Sener” as someone very dainty about her person as well as being neat. Fluttery at times, she is also rather staid when the occasion arises.

DOROTHY FOWLER PAGE
NEW BRITAIN, CONN.

“Dot’s” sympathetic understanding, her joviality, and her sense of fairness all combine to give her that enviable attribute, known as a good personality.

MARY ELIZABETH PATTERSON

ST. DAVIDS, PA.

"Betts" is thoroughly unselfish, for she thinks of herself absolutely last. Very sincere, her opinions may be regarded with all truth and respect.

LAURA CARLISLE PITKIN

FREDERICK, MD.

A keen, spirited nature, a devil-may-care attitude, and good sportsmanship—these three qualities are well-balanced in "Pitkin's" character.

HELEN DOROTHY POFFENBERGER

SHARPSBURG, MD.

Although rather shy and retiring, "Dot" has proved herself to be an asset to the class. We are glad she transferred to Hood in her sophomore year.

DOROTHY ELIZABETH RAMSEY

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Carefree "Dot" appears never to have a worry in the world, for her nonchalance is evident at all times. A great movie critic also is she.

KATHLEEN RAOUL

BILTMORE, N. C.

"K," a typical Southerner whose qualities are exemplified in her gracious hospitality, is a steady plodder. After much deliberation and systematizing, she always sees that every detail is carried out with utmost conscientiousness.

ELMIRA EVELYN FRANCES REDGRAVE

SWATHMORE, PA.

Although changeable, "Dickie" is very frank with her periodic ideas, and shares them with all concerned. Her restlessness causes her to enter diversified activities.

LUCILE ELIZABETH RITCHIE

MERCERSBURG, PA.

Lucile is never seen without having something to do—whether it be for herself or others—and in all that she does she is very efficient.

HARRIET ANNE ROBERTS

SHENANDOAH, PA.

Though in many cases the reverse is true, with Harriet one must penetrate her gay, rather indifferent cloak to find her truly quiet, admirable self.

MARJORIE JANE ROBINSON CECILTON, MD.

We always picture "Marge's" future home as an exemplification of neatness and good taste. She is further characterized by her generosity and cooperative attitude.

RHEA ANNE ROBINSON
HARRISBURG, PA.

This sunny-tempered girl, "Poppy," may very easily have received her nickname from another source, from the bright, gay, vivid flower of that same name.

NORMA AGNES ROWE
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

"Norm" is not a person to be around when one wants to feel sad or moody, because her light, easy conversation, and glad-some manner keep one in good spirits.

JULIA ELLA SCHAFER
FREDERICK, MD.

Quick and high-strung Julia is more or less an example of perpetual motion. She does not waste her activity, however, but applies herself usefully.

JUNIOR CLASS

MARGARET MAY SEYFRIED
NAZARETH, PA.

We shall always think of Peggy as leading the college in songs on a momentous occasion, or taking part in a dramatic production. Her sincerity is evident in both.

FLORENCE SOUTHWORTH SHAW
MANCHESTER, N. H.

"Flo" is an earnest, even-tempered girl whose voice is frequently raised in bursts of merry laughter, or lowered for an encouraging bit of advice.

EMILY RUTH SMITH
GREENBURG, PA.

Wherever joy and merrymaking are to be found "Dode" is sure to be. Even hard college courses are easily taken in the stride of her seven-league boots of Friendship and Mirth.

HELEN VIRGINIA SMITH
FREDERICK, MD.

Helen is very conscientious and always worries about the degree of perfection of her work. It is an admirable trait and one that will get her far.

ELEANOR LUCRETIA THOMAS

HARMONY GROVE, MD.

From that first day when we saw Eleanor's lovely face we have been glad to have such a sweet, unassuming personality in our class.

MARY LARUE THOMAS

GAITHERSBURG, MD.

"Larry" always has a cheery "Hello" for everyone. At any time of day one may hear her joyous song characterizing her unbounding pep as well as her musical talent.

VERA VIRGINIA WALES

GLYNDON, MD.

"V. V." is so alive, so interested in all phases of college life that association with her gives one a fuller understanding of the true college spirit.

MARGARET BURGESS WILES

BRUNSWICK, MD.

Whenever there is much laughter, one is sure to find Margaret, as she is indeed jolly. Since her laugh is so contagious, it quickly spreads to her associates.

ESTHER ELIZABETH WILLARD
BURKETTSTOWN, MD.

Esther is truly a student. Her diligence enables her to see that every little detail is carried out to expert efficiency.

RUTH ELIZABETH WILLHIDE
THURMONT, MD.

Ruth, believing that everything has its own time and place, has that quality of being either studious and conscientious or clever and companionable, as the occasion demands.

DOROTHY MARTIN WISEMAN
THURMONT, MD.

What would the class ever do without "Dot's" ability? Her love of good music is reflected in the thoroughness and perfection of everything that she does.

RUTH ELIZABETH YOST BLOOMSBURG, PA.

Many people know and appreciate the dependable side of Ruth's nature, but not all are acquainted with the other—a gay, carefree side, frequently hidden but there just the same.

JUNIOR CLASS

ELAINE VIOLA ZIMMERMAN

LINGLESTOWN, PA.

True, lasting friendship is hard to find, but not where Elaine is concerned. She has those qualities of mutual respect, confidence, and dependability that are so necessary.

LIKE a burst of flame you arrived at Hood, flickering gently, shyly at first, gradually warming to campus life and making friends of us all. You had the will and enthusiasm to do things, and began on your first Campus Day, laying the foundation for greater accomplishments. You thought we lived on some distant planet making its dignified yearly journey. Gradually your world began to take shape; it rounded out, cooled a little, then settled into a steady, determined course which indicated to us your sincerity and worth. We became friends, our orbits swung closer together, and we no longer attempted to eclipse one another. We found you strong but fair in competition, and your sportsmanlike attitude strengthened our own.

When we found ourselves in a new part of the college universe, we welcomed you as old friends and joyfully passed on Sophomore traditions to you. On Campus Day you showed us that you knew the sweet side of college life as well as the work, thereby gaining the honors for songs and costumes. You are now an integral part of Hood, reflecting the light of the Seniors and Juniors, while your own light grows ever stronger. In the spring you will assume the responsibilities and pleasures which have been ours throughout the year. We pass them on to you willingly, trusting you to carry on and enlarge the tradition with which you are endowed, until you, too, leave it for those who will follow.

FRESHMAN CLASS

M YRIAD atoms of star dust met one September day, glittering in the thought of exploring and conquering a new universe. You proved an aureole around your Big Sister planet, reflecting our light and our habits. We guarded you, led you through the intricacies of our days, as Hood eagerly watched you absorb this meaning. Little by little you came to know yourselves, to realize your destiny; and, in so doing, the tiny atoms grouped themselves into a compact body, no longer clustering around us but investigating new and untried paths. You swung away, but remained our satellite. On Campus Day your gold sparkled against our more somber blue, and showed favorably against the varied hues of Seniors and Sophomores. You realized that you were not only a satellite but a new and vigorous planet destined one day to rule the universe you had just entered. For another year, we will watch you closely, instilling in you more and more the meaning of Hood, until in 1936 we flash as but a tiny fragment into another, greater universe, leaving you strong in tradition, powerful in ability, increasing your orbit in swiftness and circumference, until you, too, will shatter and sprinkle dust of tried gold over the ancient planets of a greater universe.

Keystone represents the ideals and traditions of Hood, scholarship, leadership, and loyalty, as exemplified in its members. It is made up of outstanding girls, chosen toward the end of their Junior year by unanimous vote of the existing group with faculty approval. Without being in any way a secret society, it is regarded as a select organization, membership in which is greatly coveted by all. Its aim is to uphold the standards and traditions of Hood not only in campus life but in all activities in any way concerning Hood.

COOPERATIVE GOVERNMENT BOARD

Cooperative Government Board forms the hub of campus life, faculty and students working together for the benefit of all.

BLUE AND GREY

The college newspaper, published weekly, is ever alive to the opinions and activities of all connected with Hood. Written and managed entirely by student editorial and business staffs without a faculty adviser, Blue and Grey is a true expression of student thought and ability. Competition is keen not only for the higher positions on Editorial Board and Business Staff but for any position, however humble. Blue and Grey enables its readers to keep in touch not only with campus life but with national and intercollegiate news; it is the link that connects Hood with the outside world.

HERALD STAFF

As the oldest of the college publications Herald holds a place apart in life at Hood. It is written, published, and supported entirely by students with the advice of Dr. Ward, the staff being selected from those who are interested in the writing of either prose or poetry in any form. As an outlet for the creative writing done by students, Herald fosters literary interests of all kinds on the campus, seeking particularly to encourage those who are in any way interested in writing.

MARIONETTES

The Marionettes, through their productions, furnish the members of the organization with opportunities for training in acting, stagecraft, and costuming. The plays are eagerly awaited by the college community, and provide excellent entertainment for the audience as well as valuable experience for the workers. The sponsoring by the Marionettes of numerous theatre trips during the year encourages student interest in dramatics.

★ ORGANIZATIONS ★

WITH the end of this year comes the end of a great majority of the restricted organizations on Hood campus. Since matter, even in so small a universe as our own, is never destroyed, the germs of interest which first prompted the formation of these clubs will inevitably be transferred to the newer, more comprehensive groups being formed. The light which they have in a small way scattered over all participants will be focused with a greater beam, playing steadily upon the reorganized activities, aiding and inspiring their growth and spurring them on to greater achievements. These new bodies must struggle for their place in Hood life, must bear criticism and discouragement and meet them with each tiny point of light gained from enthusiastic interest. The change will be welcome, as new light and life are always welcome; there will be a new and more brilliant cluster of stars to blaze the name of Hood throughout the ages.

RANDY SHACK

Stars fell on Raudy Shack many times this year. The interior has been redecorated under the direction of Betty Storm. Can't you just see the red and white bedspreads, checked pillows, and a roaring fire? Now can't you smell the hamburgers? All is set for a jolly over-night party at Raudy.

BICYCLES

Why walk when you can bicycle? So say we all as we take to the road with much wobbling around corners and ringing of bells. To town for shopping, to the country for the rides. There is a real thrill in coasting down hill with all the world before you and the wind in your face.

This year has proved very successful for Hockey at Hood. The girls came out for practice with plenty of pep and enthusiasm. The Freshmen have certainly shown themselves interested. First place in the inter-class tournament was again won by the Sophomores. On Campus Day the annual Alumnæ-Student game was held. The Alumnæ were victorious. Goucher College and George Washington University again joined us in our annual Play Day. The hockey games were the major sport of the day. As usual, the Play Day was quite successful and enjoyed by every one. The annual Blue and Grey hockey game again took place this fall. The teams were quite well matched, but the Blue team emerged victorious. The score was 2-0. Here's to Hockey at Hood. Let's keep right at it!

The Basketball season was welcomed and enjoyed by many of the girls this year. After a period of practice games, the inter-class tournament was held. The sophomore team walked off with first place. The members of the team should be congratulated on the excellent team work and technique displayed. Following the class games came the Odd-Even game. Both teams played hard, but the Odds were victorious. The score was 31-16. The next and final game of the season was the Army-Navy game. Practices for the teams were held in the Parkway High School gymnasium. The game was played at the Armory on Wednesday, March 27. The entire game was extremely fast and quite exciting. Although the scores remained quite close for the most part, the Army team won out in the end. We hope next year will be as successful for basketball at Hood as this year has proved to be.

TENNIS

Under the arrangements of the Tennis Manager a Ping Pong Tournament was held in each dormitory. The winners were: Mary Louise Magee in Coblenz, Emily Miller in Meyran, and Ruth Harry in Shriner. Ping Pong is rapidly becoming quite popular at Hood.

The Fall Tennis Tournament resulted in a winner from each dormitory. In Coblenz Helen Groff came out on top, in Meyran Eleanor Wilkinson, and in Shriner Dorothy Worrilow. As soon as the weather is suitable, this tournament will be carried to the finish. Make good use of the tennis court, girls. They are of the best.

BASEBALL

Strike one, ball one, foul one, and the Baseball Season is in swing. The interclass tournament last spring was won by the present senior class. On May Day the annual Father-Daughter game was played. After being granted an extra period, the daughters emerged the winners. As soon as weather permits, baseball will be with us again. Let's have a grand turnout, and lots of home runs.

RIDING

Despite the extremely cold winter, we have had remarkable enthusiasm for riding this year. The Riding Show on Campus Day consisted of contests in tilting, musical stalls, and form riding. Emily Lively, the riding manager, took first place in form riding. A cup was given by A. A. to Jane Grafe, who showed the most improvement in riding during last year. Everyone should try to ride. Don't be afraid of falling. It won't hurt much, and, anyway, just console yourself with a thought of the Prince of Wales.

DANCE CLUB

The Dance Club has been steadily growing on the campus here at Hood. The number of members of the club has greatly increased over previous enrollments. The Dance Recital under the direction of Miss Gates was quite a success. The recital was part of the entertainment for Mother's Week-end, and seemed to be enjoyed by everyone.
